Summer ended here this year in the form of a once-in-a-generation rain storm!

Fortunately, other than the normal clean up after a wet and windy weekend we escaped pretty much unscathed. The most serious damage was a small section of the lobby ceiling that suffered from a water leak coming from upstairs.

As we finish up the various maintenance projects and begin preparing for the upcoming season, we've added some color to the entrance and the office. Bougainvillea hanging baskets grace the entrance to the Office and Lobby, adding some much needed color to the place.

The entry driveway is beginning to look like Spring has sprung in the middle of a heat wave. The flowers look so nice when you make the turn from Cathedral Canyon to enter the park. Thanks to Beth and Penny for their help and for getting up before dawn so we could take advantage of the cooler temperatures to put this all together. Up next will be the flower beds in the pool area.

What would we do without Beth? She spent five days taping, patching, cleaning and moving tables to prepare the laundry room for painting and it now looks so clean and neat. An added bonus was all the wall decorations Kathy Novelli purchased and installed on the walls.

Lester is busy re-seeding the lawns with winter rye so we'll have beautiful green space this winter. The social area, dog park and small area outside the office back door have all been done.

To our friends in Canada...we wish you the best with all the fires that are raging up there. Please stay safe.

Have a great Labor Day Weekend!

Our Blue Lagoon is almost finished and ready for some fishing. This is an addition we're sure will be enjoyed by our younger campers. Once stocked, we're looking forward to promoting lots of fishing tournaments.

With October fast approaching, work continues on our trails as we ready them for our Halloween Haunted Trail. In addition to the Trail, we'll have an old fashioned Carnival along with the usual Costume Contest, Trick 'r Treating and lots of other Spooktacular fun events.

As September wraps up we will be hosting our second Fall Arts and Crafts Festival. Also returning for a second time is Jeff Bates. Jeff is a local who has moved his way to Nashville with great success. We excitement continues to mount for the upcoming Labor Day festivities and the highly anticipated Murder Mystery Weekend.

The holiday spirit made an unexpected but joyful appearance as the campground transformed into a winter wonderland for the Christmas in July celebrations. Sites decorated with twinkling lights, adorned trees, and an appearance by Santa himself brought back warm memories of the holiday season, albeit in the heat of summer.

The Cardboard Regatta took center stage as participants displayed their ingenuity by constructing unique vessels entirely out of cardboard and duct tape. The event is known for its combination of engineering prowess along with a splash of hilarity. Families, friends and curious onlookers lined the pool deck to witness the spectacle as cardboard boats floated – and occasionally floundered – across the water.

As the echoes of the Christmas in July celebrations and the Cardboard Regatta fade, we are gearing up for several more exciting events on the horizon. Labor Day promises a continuation of the summer revelry, with a grand parade, live music, delicious food, and activities for all ages. It's an opportunity for us to bid farewell to Summer in style and embrace the transition into the Fall season.

The anticipation doesn't stop there, as the highly awaited Murder Mystery Weekend approaches. With its intricate plots, engaging characters and suspenseful twists, this event promises to captivate and challenge participants' detective skills. Tomorrow's Stars will be transformed into a puzzle-filled realm where attendees become part of an immersive mystery experience like no other.

Have a Happy Labor Day!
